Band: Unsrw

Album: Spiral Circle

Released: May 7

Song Played: -9-

Info: An unusual band that play hard power styled Metal. They dress in strange costumes. Who am I talking about, Unsrw. Never heard of them, don't worry, you're not alone. The album Spiral Circle is their 3rd full length release.

Note: This band is from Japan and sing in Japanese.

Band: Delphian

Album: Unravel

Released: April 23

Song Played: Focus

Info: The sound of Delphian used to be too hectic and restless in the past, which wasn't always good for the songs. Especially the combination between the technical metal and the unique vocal lines of female singer Aniek Janssen wasn't really successful. Their 2nd CD UNRAVEL is almost like a whole new band, and sounds alot less congested. Except for the lack of anything catchy or memorable in the songs, this album is far suprior to their first.

Band: Lion's Share

Album: Emotional Coma

Released: June 21

Song Played: Edge Of The Razor

Info: The band breaks its silence after six years. The production fits like a glove. The guest musicians are no less than familiar names in the Hard Rock/Heavy Metal circuit. The band is LION'S SHARE, the new album is called "Emotional Coma" and this may be their finest album to date.

Band: Hellfueled

Album: Memories In Black

Released: June 1

Song Played: Monster

Info: They hail from Sweden, they've been playing since 1998, thier a heavy-metal-band, and almost everyone says "the voice of singer Andy Alkman really does sound a lot like Ozzy Osbourne". Combine this with the fact that the guitar player clearly listened to the collected works of Zakk Wylde. No matter what, Hellfueled made a nice album that really grooves!

Band: Shakra
